WILL SEE YEAR OUT

Watch-night Services to Be Held in Many Places.

MISSIONS TO CELEBRATE

Jonadabs to Renew Their Pledge of Total Abstinence—Prominent Men to Make Addresses—Young Men's Christian Association Plans Reception To-morrow Afternoon.

The death of the old and the advent of the New Year will be observed by watch-night services in many churches and by various charitable and temperance organizations of the city.

Following an annual custom, the Fraternal Order of Jonadabs will hold an all-night service at their hall, 910 Pennsylvania avenue. As the clock strikes 12, the members will form the Jonadab circle and renew their pledge of total abstinence, after which a number of candidates will be given the initiatory degree. The following officers for the year 1907 will be installed: Dr. John P. Keifer, worthy grand chief; William A. Hickey, grand worthy vice chief; F. L. Barnes, grand worthy treasurer; Albert B. Scrivener, grand worthy secretary; A. F. McCabe, grand worthy herald; George E. Beller, grand worthy custodian; and Armand Offutt, grand worthy historian.

Among the speakers who will address the meeting are Judge William E. De Lacy, of the Juvenile Court; Rev. Eugene A. Hannan, pastor of St. Martin's Roman Catholic Church; Judge Joseph W. Nichol, Prof. J. A. Joyce, of the Army and Navy Union; Rev. J. H. McLaughlin, Brig. Gen. Andrew S. Burt, U. S. A., retired; Zed H. Copp, William F. Downey, founder of the Good Samaritan Home; James L. Feeney, president of the Bookbinders' Union, and Capt. Walter J. Mitchell, department commander of the Spanish War Veterans.

Watch Services to See Year Out.

Arrangements have been made by the several missions to celebrate the birth of the New Year. At the People's Mission, 910 Pennsylvania avenue, the service will begin at 8 o'clock, continuing until after midnight. A number of prominent speakers will address the meeting. The New Year motto by the People's Mission is: "1907—The Lord watch between me and thee, when we are absent from one another."—Genesis xxxi:49-50.

A New Year's reception will be held at Gospel Hall, Eleventh and F streets southwest, a branch of the People's Mission, under the direction of James P. McCurdy and Mrs. Carroll.

A reception will also be given at the Central Union Mission during the day, and watch-night services will be held, beginning at 7:30 o'clock. From the opening hour to 9 o'clock the services will be conducted by A. B. Brown, assisted by the Rev. Mr. and Mrs. J. M. Culbertson; 9 to 10 A. L. Stewart; 10 to 11, Owen P. Keller, and 11 to 12, William E. Parish.

Songs of praise, addresses, and testimonials will be given at the Homeward Bound Mission, 119 Pennsylvania avenue. Those who will assist in conducting the exercises are: Capt. Scitell, George Lauterbach, and Miss Nellie and Mrs. Warman.

Refreshments will be served throughout the day at the Gospel Mission, 1200 Pennsylvania avenue. The evening exercises, beginning at 7:30, will be conducted by H. Tyson, J. M. Belt, J. L. Mewshaw, H. W. Mariatt, G. W. Wheeler, H. D. Gorman, and Harry Gavins. Among the speakers invited are Mrs. Carrie Nation, W. H. Kerr, Philip Miano, L. R. Thompson, Mrs. Fred Bell, Mrs. M. A. Monagan, Mrs. Williams, and Miss Fannie Stuckey.

Woman's Relief Corps Will Watch. The Department of the Potomac, Woman's Relief Corps, of which Mrs. Vina M. Calhoun is president, will receive from noon to 4 p. m. to-morrow, at Grand Army Hall, 1412 Pennsylvania avenue. Invitations have been extended to all comrades of the G. A. R., the members of the Old Guard, the Sons of Veterans, the Daughters of Veterans, the Ladies of the G. A. R., the Ladies Aid to the Sons of Veterans, the Legion of Loyal Women, and all Spanish War Veterans and their auxiliaries. The past department presidents and all corps presidents have been invited to assist in receiving the guests. Farragut Relief Corps, No. 5, will receive its friends to-morrow, at 647 East Capitol street, from 2 to 4 p. m. A smoker will be given to-night by Keane Council, Knights of Columbus, to which the officers and officers-elect of all the other councils have been invited.

The New Year will be observed by the Young Men's Christian Association by a reception given to a number of directors from 3 to 6 p. m. Watch-night services will be held at the following churches: New York Avenue Presbyterian, Trinity Baptist, St. Paul's Lutheran, Union Methodist Episcopal, Dunbar Avenue M. E., Wesley Chapel, and Waugh M. E. Church.

Carrie Nation to Address Rechabites. The entertainment and dance to be given this evening by Onward Tent, No. 1021, Independent Order of Rechabites, in Odd Fellows' Hall, 421 Seventh street northwest, will be out of the ordinary for the reason that Carrie Nation will tell the audience of her experience in smashing the saloons in Kansas with her hatchet. Mrs. Nation will probably have as hard a time convincing the Rechabites that she is dealing with the liquor question properly as she will have with other people, as they appear to be settled in their doctrine of moral suasion.

Advance Tent, No. 1009; Harmony Tent, No. 1009; Onward Tent, No. 1021; John B. Henderson Tent, No. 1089; South Washington Tent, No. 1086, and Fidelity Tent, No. 1121, Independent Order of Rechabites, will receive at Society Temple, Fifth and G streets northwest, from 9 a. m. to 5 p. m., New Year's Day. Refreshments are to be served, and an entertainment given, which will include another lecture by Carrie Nation, at 2 p. m.

The committee chairmen are as follows: N. Elwyn, Vowles, entertainment; James T. Raliff, refreshments; Wayne W. Cordell, reception. The general committee is composed of William C. Van Metre, chairman; John C. Moore, secretary, and A. Lee Thompson, treasurer.

There will be service at the Shrine of the Sacred Heart, Fourteenth street and Park road, this evening. The choir, under the leadership of Bernard Ryan, has prepared a special musical programme. The congregation, under the leadership of L. E. Gannon, will sing "Holy God" and several hymns. Rev. William Sullivan, C. S. P., will preach. The service will end with a benediction.

Readings for the Blind. The readings is the programme for volunteer readings and music in the reading room for the blind at the Library of Congress, 2:30 to 3:30 p. m.; Thursday, January 3, Chopin recital by Prof. S. M. Fabian; Saturday, January 5, recitation and music by Miss Edith A. Koon. The door to the reading room will be closed promptly at 2:30 p. m., and will be opened thereafter only between the numbers of the programme.

HOLD CHRISTMAS SERVICES.

Children Entertained at the Church of the Incarnation.

One of the most beautiful children's Christmas services of the season was held yesterday at 4 p. m., in the Church of the Incarnation (Protestant Episcopal). The vested children's choir and the Sunday school children and teachers marched through the aisles of the church carrying five banners and singing the ancient professional, "O, Come All Ye Faithful." During the service several well-known Christmas hymns were sung, the congregation joining.

The interior of the Church of the Incarnation is in itself one of the features of Washington, the wonderful oil paintings on canvas and wood carving having been done by a clergyman of the Episcopal Church, the Rev. Mr. Oertel, of Vienna, Va. Yesterday the churchy effect was heightened by specially lighting the picture of the Nativity over the altar, and by two Christmas trees, well trimmed and lighted, with candles on each side of the stone coping near the choir stalls. There were addresses by the rector and the superintendent, and a solo by Mrs. Rosalie Goulding, with Prof. DeLo at the organ.

A feature of the festival service was the giving to the children, in addition to Santa Claus, of a number of tastefully-framed fine prints of pictures from the old masters, illustrating events in the life of the Christ Child. Next Sunday, January 6, being the Feast of the Epiphany, there will be another special service at 4 o'clock.

CHILDREN HEAR FALCONIO

Papal Delegate Assists at Celebration of Christmas.

Italian Boys and Girls Told to Be Good American Citizens and Be Worthy of Fatherland.

A Christmas tree entertainment and distribution of presents to the boys and girls of the Italian branch of the Christ Child Society, several hundred in number, took place at Notre Dame Hall yesterday afternoon. In the presence of the papal delegate, Mgr. Diomedeo Falconio; his secretary, the Rev. Mr. Stuckey; the Rev. Father Yaselli, and the patronesses of the society. After a programme of recitation, music, song, and drills by the children, Mgr. Falconio was introduced to the audience by the Rev. Father McCarthy as the "living link in the golden chain of love which connects the United States with the chair of St. Peter."

After congratulating the children on their efforts, and thanking the ladies of the committee for the deep, Christian interest they took in the welfare of the children, the papal delegate spoke on the duty of the Italian child in this country. He admonished the little ones in their own native tongue of Italy, as well as in the language of their adopted country, to strive and become good American citizens, and to love and respect American institutions. He referred to the greatness of Italy, of its accomplishments in the arts and on the field of glory, and said: "Italy was chosen by an all-knowing God as the seat of our father, the Pope." Mgr. Falconio not only asked the parents of the children to strive to make them good American citizens, but to bear themselves in this country in such a creditable manner as to be a source of pride to the nation.

Headquarters of the Italian branch of the Christ Child Society is at 115 E street northeast, and it is under the charge of Miss Agnes Boyton. Its officers are Miss Mary V. Morrill, president; Mrs. H. Simpson, vice president; Miss Pauline Burr, second vice president; Mrs. R. Acosta, secretary, and Mrs. A. P. Davis, treasurer.

MULTITUDE IS APPEARED.

Falls to See President, but is Regaled with Gorgeous Vision.

Pennsylvania avenue Saturday afternoon was the scene of one of the largest crowds that has assembled on the great thoroughfare since the inaugural parade. There were young women on the way to the matinees at the various theaters, clerks from the government buildings, and workmen with their tools, all looking in the direction of the Capitol building and wondering what the excitement was.

The report started around the New Willard Hotel that President Roosevelt was driving up the Avenue with a carriage full of wild turkeys which he had killed in Virginia, and it was not long until there were chambermaids and janitors hanging out of every window on the Avenue side of the large hostelry.

Policemen became excited and made their way to the telephone to ascertain the cause of the "mob." No one knew the cause of the excitement until the corner of the Avenue and Fifteenth street. "Here he comes!" shouted a small boy, and the same word echoed down the long street. Shortly after this, a man made his appearance around the corner wearing the loudest vest that has ever been seen in Washington, and it was this vest and the man who was wearing it that created the stir.

He did not seem to care about the crowd, he rather liked it until he reached the post-office building, where several cabs were standing, trying to solicit trade. They followed the man in the vest for two blocks and he turned the corner of Sixth street and made his way to the railroad station. He did not stay there long, he went right in and turned around and walked right out again, and the crowd still waited.

He wanted the people to see his vest and they saw it.

TWO MORE TOWNS DOOMED.

Astrologer Adds Charleston and St. Petersburg to List.

Edmund Scribner Stevens, a local student of astrology, in a statement yesterday, added Charleston, S. C., and St. Petersburg to the list of ten leading cities of the world which he prophesied would be destroyed the coming year.

"I'm informed," he announces, "that a Mohammedan uprising will occur when King Menelik of Abyssinia dies, which will be in October. Rains will overcome the French in Tangiers, and Emperor William will declare war against England. Famine, pestilence, and sword will follow."

He says that 1907 will be a year of jubilee and redemption, and he makes the following specific prediction: "Freedom for Ireland and home rule for Poland in April or May, death of the Shah of Persia in May, war in Asia Minor in April, arbitration of capital and labor troubles in the United States in June, home rule for Scotland in July, sinking of the island of Manhattan into the sea in July, earthquakes in Philadelphia and Bohemia in August, and uprisings in France and Italy at the same time, and war in Porto Rico and Cuba in September."

TRIBUTE TO GENIUS

Dr. Radcliffe Sounds Praises in Annual Sermon.

MENTIONS THAW'S VICTIM

Pastor of New York Avenue Presbyterian Church Speaks of Those Who Stand Out as the Great Men of the Year—Church, Art, Education, and Music Touched Upon.

Praise was given to those who had been instrumental in denouncing the trusts, and who had caused the widespread feeling against the Congo atrocities, by Dr. Radcliffe in his annual historical sermon, yesterday morning, at the New York Avenue Church. He said he believes these movements mark a great progress in the higher civilization of the world. Among other people to whom he paid tribute was Stanford White, the architect and artist, who was shot last summer by Harry Thaw.

He referred to the world movements in the struggle in Russia, the awakening of China, church disestablishment in France, educational freedom in England, and the general protest against the Congo atrocities. In America, the revolt against distilleries and corporate oppressions, the closer alliance with South America, the response of brotherhood in the San Francisco earthquake, and the extraordinary prosperity, as instanced in the cereal crop of the last year, which amounted to 5,900,000 bushels.

Literature has produced notable and epoch-making books, such as Hunt's "American Nation," and history has furnished "Churchill in Biography," Haulbut's "Passing of Korea," and many others.

Praises Great Men.

Dr. Radcliffe then spoke of the names which stood among all of their fellows as the greatest men of the year. Marshall Field, Houghton, Russell Sage, and Presidents Spencer and Cassatt, he said, are among those who have done much for the advancement of the commercial world. In statescraft, King Charles IX of Denmark, Prince Metternich of Austria, and Lady Curzon are names which should stand high on the roll of honor for the past year. McNeill, Mrs. Batmore, and Susan B. Anthony were highly praised by the pastor for their ardent work in the interests of reform.

In education, tributes were paid to van Hartmont, German philosopher; Perronne, master of Corpus Christi College, of Cambridge; Dwight, teaching scientist, who gave interest to schoolroom and enthusiasm to the laboratory; Lane, Chicago educator; Brown, United States commissioner of education; Melver, educational statesman, of North Carolina, and Harper. In art, he said, the names which deserve a place upon the roll of honor for the closing year were Baylis, president of the Royal Society of British Artists; Wier, English illustrator; Lopez, sculptor; Stevens, the Beardsley, painter; Breton, genre painter; Huntington, American painter; Eastman Johnson, portrait painter; and Stanford White, architect.

The drama was upheld on the roll of honor by O'Brien, the American, who sent to protect his increasing commerce. The Pacific Mail Steamship Company's steamship Manchuria went around here. The United States transport Sheridan was pined upon the roll of honor, and ships came into Honolulu disabled by the perils of the sea. Surely the United States should protect life and property, and should expend, without stint, sufficient money to develop its maritime commerce. Let us have the dry dock, for our customs receipts will pay for it. Let justice be done to Hawaii, now, before it is too late. The flag was raised here, and far better that the sugar fields of the planters should be laid waste and the sugar cane burned to ashes, the mills cease to grind, the Kanaka return to his semi-barbaric state, than that a service race should dwell in the land of coffee, or a bounty for its production, would do much to solve the problem and prevent the islands from becoming one vast plantation, operated by a trust with great power, and that unless the government at Washington shall extend a helping hand at once to encourage the American producer, this possession of the United States will be lost forever. We are asking too much, but whatever is done, if done at all, should be done quickly.

A dry dock, a bounty on coffee, and a post-office will help us to keep possession of what in the future will be the most valuable of Uncle Sam's foreign possessions. If the red tape and delay which seems to prevent the government from acting can only be suspended by the great President now in the White House, we will have no reason to regret the raising of the Stars and Stripes on the Hawaiian Islands. The land is rich, productive, and the climate the best in the world. All we want is temporary assistance. The money will yield compound interest in five years, and it is to be devoutly wished that the President shall place in the executive chair in Hawaii a man who will not deceive him, and who will carry out his policy to make this an American Territory in fact as well as in name. Yours sincerely, AN AMERICAN.

WANTS SALOONS ABOLISHED

Dr. Murray, in Sermon, Pleads for More Moral District.

Tells Hearers President Would Support Commissioners if They Make Move to Stop Sale of Liquor.

"A New Year for the District of Columbia" was the subject of a sermon delivered by the Rev. S. Reese Murray, D. D., at the Union M. E. Church yesterday morning.

"In a series of speeches by Edward De V. Morrill, of Pennsylvania," said the preacher, "a strong plea was made for a 'greater District of Columbia.' My plea is for a 'better District and a more Christian.' Mr. Morrill addresses himself to a consideration of abuses and needed reforms, and deals extensively with statistics relating to street extensions, expenditures, and assessments. Tax dodgers and grafters come in also for a share of Mr. Morrill's condemnation. This contention is largely normal; but the burden of his affair is physical and esthetic. Beauty in thoroughfares, civic greatness, cleanliness, regularity in administering government, and the salvation from autocratic power and the reign of graft—this, in the main, is the body of Mr. Morrill's address."

Dr. Murray contends there is one weightier and larger thought that needs to be taken into consideration. He said: "There is a bill in the House committee for the prohibition of the traffic in intoxicating liquors for beverage purposes throughout the District borders. And this," continued the speaker, "if in operation for a decade would bring more peace, prosperity, home building, and security of youth from the open temptations of life than the speckle else we can imagine. So that no fair-minded man, seeing us to-day and again ten years hence, but would declare that Washington was never so attractive, never so progressive, never so worthy of admiration as under such a regime. The beginning of such an era would not only mean an unprecedented rise in civic life, but all that goes with character in the enlargement of municipal progress."

Dr. Murray said he hoped it would not seem out of place to declare that the Commissioners of the District could do nothing better than to take an advance stand on this most vital question. Congress, he said, we can imagine, has faith enough in the man in the White House to believe that they would be upheld. Not a few entertain the thought that the President will address himself to the liquor question before he retires from his exalted position. Not a few feel certain he will do so, despite some previous references of his to meddling with the army canten. But whether so or not, he has never put himself against reform, but always and mightily behind it.

"Congress has enforced prohibition in the Capitol and in the soldiers' homes. And the Commissioners, who have suppressed gambling, could certainly suppress the illegal liquor traffic. The excise board has already limited the number of saloons, and could reduce them at a blow to a very small number if they wished. Of course, there would be a howl, and it may be there would be an earthquake."

AFFAIRS IN HONOLULU.

An Hawaiian Official Tells of Island's Needs.

Some weeks ago, when Mr. Sidney Ballou, of Honolulu, was staying at the Shoreham, in this city, he gave The Herald an interview on affairs in the Sandwich Islands, which was read with interest, and seemed to present accurately the views of residents of Honolulu as to conditions there. The Herald has now received a communication from a resident of Honolulu, an official whose name is withheld because of the position he holds. His letter presents another view of the questions discussed by Mr. Ballou, and is, therefore, worthy of presentation: Editor The Washington Herald:

Hawaii is fast being orientalized, and the best element of the Americans residing here, most of them staunch Republicans, feel that the Federal government has not dealt fairly with us. We surrendered up our custom-house and post-office receipts to the national government, in the hope that appropriations would be made to the extent of the value of the questions discussed by Mr. Ballou, and is, therefore, worthy of presentation: Editor The Washington Herald:

Hawaii is fast being orientalized, and the best element of the Americans residing here, most of them staunch Republicans, feel that the Federal government has not dealt fairly with us. We surrendered up our custom-house and post-office receipts to the national government, in the hope that appropriations would be made to the extent of the value of the questions discussed by Mr. Ballou, and is, therefore, worthy of presentation: Editor The Washington Herald:

Sidney Ballou, a lawyer, of Honolulu, does not represent the middle class of Hawaii, and the heavy immigration of Japanese into this Territory is not only a menace to its internal peace and safety, but will most surely result in driving out of these islands the few thousand Americans and Anglo-Saxons who are now here. The Japanese have already become stockmen, barbers, engineers, painters, storekeepers, doctors—in fact, they have entered into every field of labor and into the learned professions. They are so aggressive that soon they will control the business of the country, to the exclusion of Americans. I suggest barons of Hawaii, whose wealth has grown "beyond the dreams of avarice," of course favor the swarming of this country with the subjects of the Mikado. They want and cry for cheap labor, and they want investing much of their vast wealth in foreign securities. The strong hand of the President has been raised in defense of the Americanizing Hawaii. He knows that our fair land must pass from us, unless drastic measures are resorted to. We want the passage of an act by Congress to enable the Federal government to take charge of the public lands of these islands, and by virtue of which the Federal commissioner shall be appointed by, and responsible to, the Executive at Washington for the division and allotment of those lands to desirable American settlers. This is the policy of the administration, and we read the signs. It cannot be put in full force too soon. The Japanese send out of this Territory every year nearly two and a half million dollars "through" the Yokama Specie Bank and the United States mails. They drain the cash that should be kept in circulation in Hawaii. No man can be true to this country and to the great nation that has named us, and say that more Japanese are desired in Hawaii. We don't want any more, and if there is any way to prevent the further influx of this aggressive, domineering, American-hating race, it should be discouraged, and measures put into force at once. They mean to rule this land of perpetual summer, this beautiful spot that has been made a territory, and into whose harbors come the ships of all nations, which will be the key to the commerce of the Pacific and the far East. A naval dry dock is what we want more than anything else, outside of strong and impregnable fortifications, work on which should be commenced at once. Honolulu should be the American Gibraltar of the Pacific. Pearl Harbor, if widened and deepened at this entrance, will shelter the greatest fleet the American navy has ever had. The Pacific Mail Steamship Company's steamship Manchuria went around here. The United States transport Sheridan was pined upon the roll of honor, and ships came into Honolulu disabled by the perils of the sea. Surely the United States should protect life and property, and should expend, without stint, sufficient money to develop its maritime commerce. Let us have the dry dock, for our customs receipts will pay for it. Let justice be done to Hawaii, now, before it is too late. The flag was raised here, and far better that the sugar fields of the planters should be laid waste and the sugar cane burned to ashes, the mills cease to grind, the Kanaka return to his semi-barbaric state, than that a service race should dwell in the land of coffee, or a bounty for its production, would do much to solve the problem and prevent the islands from becoming one vast plantation, operated by a trust with great power, and that unless the government at Washington shall extend a helping hand at once to encourage the American producer, this possession of the United States will be lost forever.
